"Ask your server for an Ollie's SandBar Menu for a complete selection of our fine wines, ice cold beer, and cocktails"

Hello,

My name is Ollie, Ollie the oyster. I was born and raised in Factory Creek; that's the body of water that runs just outside of my restaurant. My cousins and I are proud of our heritage and the role that we play in the ecosystem. Our role in the ecosystem is one of a filter for the water. Some of my cousins and I are fortunate enough to have a pearl inside; perhaps you will be lucky enough to get one of us who have this treasure inside.

Our heritage in the lowcountry goes back hundreds of years, when Native Americans used to wade into the waters to get us and then we were the center of attraction when we were steamed over an open fire. Up until a few decades ago, we were one of the primary industries of the lowcountry.

Shucks, just a few hundred yards around the bend there was an oyster factory where thousands of my ancestors were processed and packed to be sent all over the country. That's why the river is called Factory Creek. I hope that you will enjoy your stay here at Ollie's.

Please come back to see us!
